Students were asked if they had ever taken a course at a CUNY campus other than their home college and about using the ePermit system. Students who reported both wanting to take a course and another CUNY college and not having taken a course using ePermit were then asked about ePermit barriers. The question allowed for multiple response. For more details on survey administration see the Technical Appendix.

Note: Predicted rates are based on student characteristics such as Pell status, high school GPA, and special program participation (e.g., SEEK, CD). Starting in 2019, the predicted rates account for ASAP participation, a change from previous years. Actual rates that are significantly higher than predicted rates indicate that a college is graduating more students than expected, given the socio-economic characteristics and academic preparation of the students it serves. "#" indicates that the actual rate is not significantly different from the predicted rate (estimated at the 5% confidence level). Comprehensive colleges are excluded because students at comprehensive colleges are more likely to transfer into baccalaureate programs without first earning an associate degree than students in community colleges.

Note: Transfers were enrolled in a CUNY associate degree program and within three years enrolled in a CUNY baccalaureate program with or without an associate degree. Students who transferred from an associate to a baccalaureate program at a comprehensive college are included. Graduation rates are the percentage of students who earned a baccalaureate degree at the CUNY college of transfer within four years of entry. Methods for computing graduation rates have changed since the 2017-18 PMP. See Technical Appendix for details.

One of the best predictors of college success is entering prepared for college-level studies. CUNY will work with its partners to help ensure that a larger number of entering students are prepared, starting with early education and assisting them up to and through high school.

Goal 1: CUNY will strengthen its partnership with the city's schools to ensure more high school graduates are college ready, and, for those who are not, CUNY will improve the effectiveness of its remediation programs.

Pillar: College Readiness

One of the best predictors of college success is entering prepared for college-level studies. CUNY will work with its partners to help ensure that a larger number of entering students are prepared, starting with early education and assisting them up to and through high school.

Goal 1: CUNY will strengthen its partnership with the city's schools to ensure more high school graduates are college ready, and, for those who are not, CUNY will improve the effectiveness of its remediation programs.

One of the best predictors of college success is entering prepared for college-level studies. CUNY will work with its partners to help ensure that a larger number of entering students are prepared, starting with early education and assisting them up to and through high school.

Goal 1: CUNY will strengthen its partnership with the city's schools to ensure more high school graduates are college ready, and, for those who are not, CUNY will improve the effectiveness of its remediation programs.

Note: Percentage is the total number of student (instructional) FTEs in undergraduate courses taught by full-time faculty divided by the total number of student (instructional) FTEs in all undergraduate courses for both the fall and spring semesters of a given academic year. Instruction by full-time professors (all ranks including chairs), instructors and lecturers is counted as instruction delivered by full-time faculty. Instruction in winter session sections is included only for full-time faculty whose teaching is part of their contractual workload (in which case, instructional FTEs are added to both the numerator and the denominator). Other winter session sections are excluded. Instruction is credited to the faculty member's college of appointment except for those appointed to the Graduate Center, the School of Journalism, and the Law School; their teaching is credited to the college where instruction took place. College Now sections are excluded.

This technical appendix provides additional information for some of the metrics included in the 2018-19 Performance Management Process (PMP) Data Book.

PMP Data Book: Rounding variation

The 2018-19 PMP Data Book was generated using a different software program than used to produce the 2017-18 PMP Data Book. As a result, rounding variation may be found between the reports for some indicators.

Access and Completion

A.4 CUNY colleges will launch college momentum campaigns to raise on-time graduation rates.

The metrics in this section are designed to capture progress toward the goals of CUNY's momentum campaign, which include increasing the percentage of students who complete Gateway Math and English courses in their first year and the percentage who accumulate 30 credits by the end of their first year.

- Timing of metrics: We include two versions of most momentum metrics: the percentage of fall full-time freshmen who achieved the goal by the end of the first year (at the end of the summer term), and the percentage of fall full-time freshmen who achieved the goal by the end of the spring term (before the summer term). CUNY encourages students to earn credits during the summer, and the momentum campaign targets were set with summer participation in mind. Credits earned during the summer also count toward a student being considered on-track for graduation for purposes of Excelsior scholarship eligibility. However, results from the summer are not available for the most recent fall freshman cohort when the PMP is produced, so in 2019 we added metrics with results through the spring term to show how the most recent freshman cohort's results to date compare to those of previous cohorts at a comparable point in the year.
- Definition of Gateway Courses: Gateway English courses are those that satisfy the English Composition requirement of the Pathways Common Core, as identified by the CUNYfirst requirement designation codes "RECR", "RECD" or "RECC." Gateway Math courses are those that satisfy the Mathematical and Quantitative Reasoning requirement of the pathways common core, as identified by the CUNYfirst requirement designation codes "RMQR", "RMOQ" or "RMQC."
- Inclusion of pre-matriculation credits: The credit accumulation and gateway completion metrics count credits and course equivalencies earned before matriculation (e.g., courses completed and credits earned through College Now courses or Advanced Placement tests). We determined that it was appropriate to count these credits and course completions in measures of academic momentum because they count toward graduation requirements, and toward being on track for graduation for purposes of Excelsior scholarship eligibility. They also reflect the extensive work that CUNY does to offer dual enrollment opportunities (i.e., College Now and ECI courses) to high school students.

- Context metrics (earning 20 credits in the first year): earning 30 credits in the first year is a rough indicator of whether a student is on-track for on-time graduation (by earning 60 credits in two years or 120 credits in four years). We also include the percentage of students who have earned 20 credits in their first year as a context metric to indicate how many students are on-track to graduate within 150% of expected time. We prioritize the percentage earning 30 credits, rather than 20, as the main metric to encourage early academic momentum. Equated credits/hours for developmental courses are excluded. We expect the 20/30 benchmarks to be more attainable as remediation reform gets further along and fewer students take standalone non-credit, developmental courses.

The PMP metrics are designed to capture key performance indicators that are useful for annual review of college performance. They are not intended to capture all the information that colleges need to monitor and manage their own performance throughout the year, and we expect that individual colleges are also monitoring additional metrics and tracking them on a semester-by-semester basis. Additional metrics may include the percentage of credits that students enroll in and complete at their college (excluding pre-matriculation credits) and the percentage who are on track to earn the credits required for graduation beyond their first year (e.g., at the end of year 2, at the end of year 3 and so on).

p. 30 Student experiences taking courses at campuses other than their home college

The Student Experience Survey was administered to a randomly selected sample of 50% of CUNY undergraduates enrolled in a degree/certificate program in the spring 2018 semester who were 18 years of age or older (N=100,905). The survey was conducted online with all contacts sent to the students' preferred email between March and May, including an invitation and several reminders.

A total of 20,956 students responded, a response rate of 20.8%. The responses are weighted by college, based on logistic regression modeling that included age, race, gender, and full- or part-time status. All figures in the report are percentages based only on those who responded to the specific question.

A.6 CUNY will double its three-year graduation rate for associate degrees and raise by ten points the six-year graduation rate for baccalaureate programs.

- p. 45: Four-year graduation rate of students who transferred from an associate degree program to a CUNY baccalaureate program (tracked from semester of transfer)
The underlying data source for this indicator has changed: In prior years we used a combination of the Associate Last and the Baccalaureate First tables in order to identify when students were leaving associate programs and entering a baccalaureate program. This year's data source is the table created for the IPEDS Outcome Measures report (IRDB_DW.WC_IRA_OUTCOMES_HST_D), which looks back at enrollment records to remove students who are coded as transfers despite having actually entered that college as a first-time freshmen. As a result the overall number of transfers into baccalaureate programs is a little smaller than in prior versions – but the trends by transfer type remain similar.

College Readiness

B.1 CUNY will strengthen its partnership with the city's schools to ensure more high school graduates are college ready, and, for those who are not, CUNY will improve the effectiveness of its remediation programs.

- p. 57: Percentage of fall first-time freshmen enrolled of those accepted

This indicator uses the race/ethnicity as reported in the application data because we do not have imputed race/ethnicity data for applicants who did not enroll. For methodological simplicity, gender is also reported as indicated in the application data.

Following the methodology used in the IRDB, applicants whose gender is unknown are recoded as male. First-time freshmen not matching back to the CAS data for the term of enrollment have been excluded to avoid artificially inflating yield rates. In the prior year, first-time freshmen not matching back to the CAS data for the term of enrollment were counted as both admits and enrolled.

The IR.SHOW_FILE_SSN table was used to match the SSN to the enrollment data because of data availability and the IR.CAS_LIMITED_FACTS table being populated the same way. In the prior year, the IR.OIRA_ID_NUMBER_DIM table was used.

Career Readiness

C.2 CUNY will make pragmatic experiential learning a signature component of a CUNY education.

The Internship and Career Readiness Survey was administered across all CUNY campuses in spring 2019. All undergraduate students, currently enrolled in a degree program, ages 18 or older, were invited to participate (N=202,738).

Students were asked about participation in twelve ELO activities: paid internship; unpaid internship; cooperative education; service learning; community service; clinical preparation; research/field study; campus or university-based work; campus or university-based leadership; civic engagement; study abroad; and overseas or domestic applied learning.

The response rate was 11.3% (N=22,818). The responses were weighted by college, class standing, full-time/part-time status, ethnicity, gender, degree level, special program status, and interactions between college and all the other variables using a multilevel structure.

Knowledge Creation and Innovative Research

D.1 Average number of pieces of scholarship/creative activity.

Scholarship includes published books, book chapters, conference presentations, peer reviewed journal articles and technical reports, poems and short stories; and curated art shows, direction/choreography/ etc., music compositions, plays or screenplays which are produced, published or performed. The Graduate Center reflect scholarship of Central Line faculty only.
